

Motivational Models

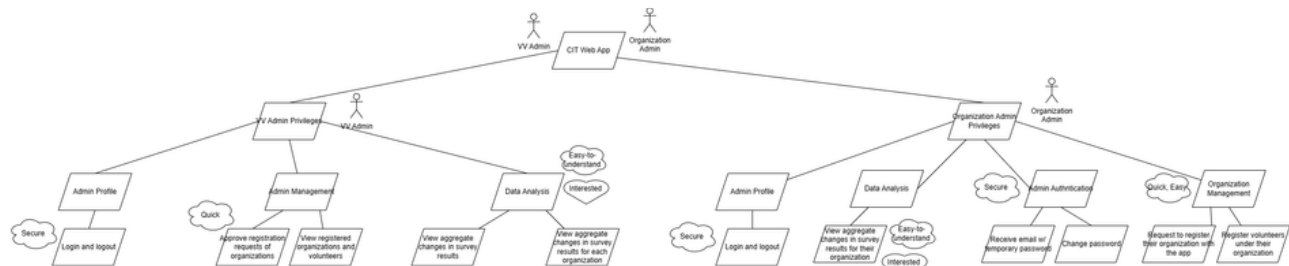

Purpose:

The motivational models only map to user stories classified as must. This is so they effectively communicate the minimum viable product to the client.

Initial Motivational Models

- These are initial drafts of our motivational model. They were refined over time through constructive feedback from fellow team members.
- Over a MS Teams meeting we decided that these models were too simple to provide the client with a holistic understanding of the system. So, more detailed motivational models were created.
